

Ichi - Fast Reading Privacy Policy

Last Updated: January 29, 2026

OVERVIEW

Ichi is a Chrome extension designed to help users speed read and focus on web content with enhanced comprehension. We are committed to protecting your privacy and being transparent about our data practices.

INFORMATION WE COLLECT

Ichi operates entirely within your browser and does not collect, store, or transmit any personal information or browsing data to external servers.

WHAT WE ACCESS

- Webpage Content: The extension accesses text content from webpages you visit to enable speed reading functionality
- User Selections: We read the text you select or highlight to provide reading optimization
- User Interactions: We detect clicks and interface interactions to control reading speed and settings
- Storage: We access your browser's local storage to save your reading preferences and speed settings

WHAT WE DO NOT COLLECT

- Personal identifying information
- Browsing history
- Website URLs you visit
- Form data or user inputs
- Cookies or tracking data
- Screenshots or webpage content beyond selected text
- Reading habits or analytics

HOW WE USE INFORMATION

All processing happens locally within your browser. Ichi uses accessed information solely to display the speed reading interface, optimize text presentation, apply your preferred settings, and provide real-time visual feedback.

DATA STORAGE

Ichi stores only your personal preferences locally, such as reading speed and UI settings. All data is saved only to your device via browser local storage, never transmitted, shared, or retained after uninstall.

PERMISSIONS

Active Tab, Storage, Scripting, and Tabs permissions are used exclusively to enable core reading functionality and not for data collection.

THIRD-PARTY SERVICES

Ichi does not integrate with or send data to any third-party services, analytics platforms, or external APIs.

DATA SECURITY

All processing happens locally on your device, minimizing traditional data security risks.

UPDATES TO THIS POLICY

We may update this policy periodically. Changes will be reflected in the "Last Updated" date. Continued use constitutes acceptance.

YOUR RIGHTS

You can uninstall the extension at any time to remove all associated local data from your browser.
